

Burgess Associates, LLC

Raised on a small farm in central Mississippi, Milton Burgess was exposed to a hard work ethic that is exemplified throughout his business endeavors. Growing up, his parents taught him to be a person with integrity, have respect for others, work hard, and never give up on his dreams. All of these qualities helped him to become the entrepreneur he is today. "With everything my parents instilled in me, I always knew that if I had the opportunity to start my own business I would do so. After working offshores (drilling rigs) for several years as well as working for Hemphill Construction as a laborer for three years, I was able to save and establish my own construction business," said Burgess. He is now the owner and operator of Burgess Associates, LLC located in McHenry, Mississippi. His firm provides site preparation, clearing and grubbing as well as hauling services. Burgess Associates is an MDOT-certified DBE, also certified through the Mississippi Development Authority. Burgess believes in providing each client with quality, customized, and timely services all within a family-oriented atmosphere.

Over the past seven years, Burgess Associates, LLC has built its capacity and experience by working on various MDOT and non-MDOT projects with prime contractors that include but are not limited to Adcamp, APAC-Mississippi, and Superior Asphalt. The firm has completed projects that entailed hauling asphalt for the construction of a housing development project with Dickerson & Bowen as the prime contractor. Also, Burgess Associates hauled asphalt for the Highway 49 Improvement project with W.G. Yates & Sons Construction Company as the prime contractor. Currently, the firm is working as a subcontractor to Barriere Construction on the Highway 11 Reconstruction project in Pearl River County. Burgess said he anticipates demolition and hauling opportunities with Keesler Air Force Base as well as Camp Shelby.

A MISSISSIPPI SUCCESS STORY

AMERIMAC CHEMICAL

Travis Dockins
Logistics Manager

Roland Powell
Owner

Merdith Corley
Sales Manager

Amerimac Chemical is a full-service specialty chemical company that focuses on wastewater, bioremediation, and water treatment. The firm also offers chemical and oil spill cleanup, odor control, and a list of specialty chemicals to service various industries. Also, it is the only minority-owned oil, lube, and hazmat chemical company in the southern states. Amerimac Chemical is located in Jackson, Mississippi and is owned and operated by Roland Powell. The firm's main goal is to provide contemporary technology primarily aimed at protecting the environment using a combination of environmentally friendly green products which are good for the environment internally and externally.

Currently, Amerimac Chemical is working on a Jatran oil and lube maintenance contract as a subcontractor with Transdev supplying antifreeze and degreasers. The firm is also working as a subcontractor with Veolia on a maintenance contract with Savanna St. Wastewater Treatment Plant (Jackson) supplying oil and lube supplies as well as bioremediation microbes to clean out lift stations and sewage overflow products. Another current project includes working with the City of Jackson to supply hazmat chemicals and polymers to O B Curtis Water Treatment Plant. Regarding future projects, Amerimac Chemical anticipates supplying oil and lube to the Mississippi Highway Patrol, Parchman Prison, and the City of Memphis.

Powell says that owning a successful business is rewarding. However, it has been a process that requires consistency and hard work. He credits logistical partnerships with suppliers such as H&B Industries (Texas), Jacksonville Chemicals (Arkansas), Arkansas Dakota Distributing (Arkansas) as well as Mark Wise (Manager of O B Curtis Water Treatment Plant in 2007). "They are giving us opportunities to continuously grow," said Powell. He also highlighted a 15 percent growth rate over the past several years which can be attributed to giving the best service as possible and providing high-quality name brand products that work.

Powell strives to be successful as well as have a positive impact on others. "I want my company to be an inspiration to other companies in letting them know that there are many opportunities out there for success. The climate has changed, which has created a much more conducive and inclusive environment for minority-owned businesses," said Powell

For more information about this firm you can contact Roland Powell at 601-918-8321 or rpowell40@aol.com.

OSHA Safety Tip of the Month!

Exposure to Cold Temperatures

Environmental cold can affect any worker exposed to cold air temperatures and puts workers at risk of cold stress. As wind speed increases, it causes the cold air temperature to feel even colder, increasing the risk of cold stress to exposed workers, especially those working outdoors, such as recreational workers, snow cleanup crews, construction workers, police officers and firefighters. Other workers who may be affected by exposure to environmental cold conditions include those in transit, baggage handlers, water transportation, landscaping services, and support activities for oil and gas operations.

Risk factors for cold stress include:

- Wetness/dampness, dressing improperly, and exhaustion
- Predisposing health conditions such as hypertension, hypothyroidism, and diabetes
- Poor physical conditioning

What is cold stress?

What constitutes cold stress and its effects can vary across different areas of the country. In regions that are not used to winter weather, near freezing temperatures are considered factors for "cold stress." Increased wind speed also causes heat to leave the body more rapidly (wind chill effect). Wetness or dampness, even from body sweat, also facilitates heat loss from the body. Cold stress occurs by driving down the skin temperature, and eventually the internal body temperature. When the body is unable to warm itself, serious cold-related illnesses and injuries may occur, and permanent tissue damage and death may result. Types of cold stress include: trench foot, frostbite, and hypothermia.

How can cold stress be prevented?

- Employers should train workers. Training should include:
 - How to recognize the environmental and workplace conditions that can lead to cold stress.
 - The symptoms of cold stress, how to prevent cold stress, and what to do to help those who are affected.
 - How to select proper clothing for cold, wet, and windy conditions.
- Employers should:
 - Monitor workers physical condition.
 - Schedule frequent short breaks in warm dry areas, to allow the body to warm up.
 - Schedule work during the warmest part of the day.
 - Use the buddy system (work in pairs).
 - Provide engineering controls such as radiant heaters
