

Get Loaded Logistics

Get Loaded Logistics is located in Picayune, Miss. and is owned and operated by Kalzamir Smith. The firm specializes in travel trailer and camper manufacturing, general freight trucking (Local), general freight trucking (long), specialized freight (except used goods) trucking (local), specialized freight (except used goods) trucking (long), and other waste collection. Smith works alongside an exceptional management team that includes Ben Latimer, procurement specialist, and Chris Reynolds, office manager. Smith takes pride in providing exceptional customer service and attention to detail.

Smith was intrigued by the transport industry and decided to start his own firm in 2013. "I started with one dump truck and a camper, and the rest was history," said Smith. He eventually went on to do business with companies that include but are not limited to Lemoine Industrial, MLU Services, and Upshaw Construction.

Much of Smith's experience has focused on disaster relief work. Past projects completed by his firm entailed the transportation of temporary housing during Hurricane Ian, Hurricane Ida, and an ice storm in Maryland. Currently, the firm is working on a few FEMA projects that include deactivating units from the areas impacted by Hurricane Ida, providing temporary housing to Guam (U.S. territory hit by a typhoon in May), those affected by the wildfires in Hawaii, as well as providing disaster relief to the Rolling Fork community that was struck by a tornado in March.

Smith highlighted the uniqueness of his firm. "We are a family-owned company and take pride in responding to our clients' need in a quick and efficient manner," explained Smith. He also believes that being a business owner means more than earning a paycheck. Smith can be a positive influence within his community. He has partnered with Home Depot and Bank Plus to provide water for those in need during and after disasters.

As a seasoned entrepreneur, Smith leaves a word of advice to fellow DBEs and businesses alike. "Failure is not an option; you will be ok in the end. You must take the good with the bad. And lastly, set boundaries between work and free time," said Smith.

HAZARDALERT

Extreme Heat Can Be Deadly to Workers

Most states are experiencing an unprecedented heat wave and the U.S. is on track for the hottest summer on record.

Heat is a well-known and recognized occupational hazard for outdoor and indoor workers that can cause serious or fatal illness when they are not provided the necessary protections and training.

Each year, thousands of workers become sick from occupational heat exposure, and too many of those illnesses result in fatalities. New employees whose bodies have not had time to adjust to working in the heat are most vulnerable — nearly 3 out of 4 workers who die from heat-related causes die in their first week on the job.

Employer Responsibility

It's the law! Employers have a duty to protect workers against heat. Employers have a legal and moral responsibility not to assign work in high heat conditions without protections in place for workers, where they could be literally worked to death. This is true even in Texas, despite its recent law limiting local ordinances on heat illness protections.

- At a minimum, employers should provide adequate cool water, rest breaks, and shade or a cool rest area for employees.
- Give new or returning employees the chance to gradually acclimatize (or become used to working in hot temperatures), to be trained and plan for emergencies, and to monitor for heat signs/symptoms.
- Train employees on heat illness prevention, signs of heat illness, and how to act immediately if they or another employee appears to be suffering from a heat related illness.

Worker Rights

Every worker covered under the OSH Act has the right to a safe and healthful workplace.

Employers are Responsible for Protecting Workers from Heat Illness

By law employers are responsible for providing workplaces free of known safety hazards, including extreme heat.

It is your responsibility to:

- ☒ Provide workers with water, rest and shade.
- ☒ Allow new or returning workers to gradually increase workloads and take more frequent breaks during the first week of work as they build a tolerance for working in the heat.
- ☒ Plan for emergencies and train workers on prevention.
- ☒ Monitor workers for signs of illness.
