

Errand Kings, LLC

Errand Kings is located in Jackson, Miss. and is owned and operated by Jaylon Edney. The firm specializes in construction stripping, security systems services, and debris removal services. Edney works alongside an exceptional management team which includes Donatus Fair and Damien McAlister. The firm is focused on providing quality work with competitive pricing.

Edney began his career in the security industry. He worked for a security firm for several years. However, he took an interest in construction as well and did side projects on the weekends. Eventually he decided to start his own business in 2020. "I knew I had what it took to build a company and manage it," stated Edney.

Some previous projects completed by Errand Kings include but are not limited to stripping over 500 trucking lanes and a truck parking lot as well as several gas stations in the cities of Vicksburg and Utica. The firm also worked on a parking lot for Roosters in the Fondren area and partnered with Tri County Painting for this project. Currently, Errand Kings is providing storage racks, demolition, and hauling dumpster loads for a Campbells Swamp renovation project in Vicksburg, Miss. In reference to future projects Edney said that he anticipates working on a 39-unit assistant living center in Vicksburg, Miss.

When asked what he does best, Edney stated that he puts his best foot forward and is committed to every job he secures. Having a good work ethic is important to him and his team. Edney's firm is unique because of the range of services that can be provided. "We do everything from demolition, stripping to security systems. Having a variety of trades can be advantageous," said Edney.

As a small business owner, Edney leaves a word of advice to fellow DBEs and businesses alike. He mentioned the importance of not being complacent and being willing to work hard and never give up no matter what comes your way.

A MISSISSIPPI SUCCESS STORY

Mississippi Yard Barber, LLC

Mississippi Yard Barber is owned and operated by Clemie Stewart. It is the go-to company for lawn maintenance and landscape construction services in Central Mississippi. The firm is a small business that has achieved successful results by working safely and efficiently. Mississippi Yard Barber offers a wide range of services to keep your lawn looking its best, including mowing, edging, trimming, blowing, addition of landscape features, and the installation of walkways.

Stewart grew up mowing yards in his neighborhood. "I enjoyed the process of landscaping from beginning to end. Although I was young, I recognized that this field of work was my passion," said Stewart. He went on to establish his company in 2015 and hasn't looked back.

Established in 2015, Mississippi Yard Barber is a dependable and exceptional lawn care company. Stewart has built and maintained good working relationships with clients and other contractors. Having a good relationship is important in any industry. One of the largest contracts awarded to the firm entailed ground maintenance and mowing. Currently, the firm is providing lawncare services to the Mississippi Department of Education, Jackson Municipal Airport Authority, Enterprise, as well as private projects. In reference to future projects, Stewart will continue to bid projects within his scope of work and expertise.

Being a small business owner while being influential within his community is important to Stewart. "I enjoy being able to help other people provide for their families through employment opportunities," he explained. Stewart has also served as an inspiration to other young people who want to one day become entrepreneurs.

Mississippi Yard Barber continues to grow as a company. "I have been able to hire more qualified individuals with the same vision as the company. This is vital for a business to run effectively and be successful," said Stewart.

Getting feedback from customers can help a business owner figure out what is working and what isn't. Mississippi Yard Barber has received a plethora of positive reviews. One client by the name of Quinn said "Mr. Stewart is very professional and cares about his work. He went above and beyond my other lawn care services." Another client expressed how great his yard looked and gave the company a five-star rating.

Stewart's advice to sustaining a business highlighted the importance of being consistent, disciplined, utilizing free resources such as MDOT DBE Supportive Services, and to never stop learning.

OSHA Safety Tip

Long-Term Stress Harms Everyone in the Workplace

Stress is not always bad. In fact, in the workplace, stress can prompt workers to stay focused on a task or meet a deadline. Extensive and prolonged stress in the workplace, however, can harm workers' physical and mental health, negatively affecting an organization's success. Employers can help alleviate workplace stress by supporting their workers. Unions and worker organizations can also support workplace mental health and well-being through their member services, outreach, and community engagement work.

How Does Long-Term Stress Harm Workers?

Physical harm:

- Heart disease
- High blood pressure
- Muscle tension and pain (e.g., back pain)
- Headaches
- Poor sleep
- Stomach discomfort
- Excessive weight gain or loss

Mental health challenges or behavioral changes:

- Depression
- Anxiety
- Burnout
- Emotional outbursts
- Social withdrawal
- Drug or alcohol use
- Restlessness
- Fatigue
- Anger and irritability
- Lack of motivation or focus

How Does Long-Term Stress Harm Employers?

- Increases potential for workplace incidents. Stressed and fatigued workers are less attentive in recognizing and avoiding hazards.
- Reduces productivity. Stressful working conditions can cause workers to lose motivation, become easily distracted, lose focus, make mistakes, experience a decline in performance, and develop mental health challenges.

Health Organization estimates that for every dollar U.S. employers spend treating common mental health issues, they receive a return of $4 in improved health and productivity.

- Increases absenteeism. Exposure to long-term stress undercuts workers' physical and mental health, causing them to miss more days of work.
- Undermines morale and leads to high turnover. Stressed workers are less likely to be energized to perform well or to stay at a company that does not show interest in improving work conditions.
